

Inner mongolia medical college was behind baiyin serial killing case

Xu Chen

St. Scholastica, Harvard University, USA

The Baiyin Serial killing case was seemingly solved. During the year 1988 to 2002, there were 11 brutal rape murder cases happened in Baiyin, Gansu, and Batou, Innermongolia in China. Police found the killer by checking one obvious bloody finger print. However, there are no explanation for the motives. Matter of fact, the criminal Gaochengyong should have other cohorts. This research uses the documentaries through the years to find out other criminals. Conclusion: One of the criminals should be Tianxiaochen, who originally graduated from Innermongolia Medical College. He met Gaochengyong through his instructor, Gaoxiuhe. As a plastic surgeon, Tianxiaochen needed the materials for surgery purposes. Also, Gaochengyong was friends with Jinzhihong in Innermongolia medical college. To have a clean surgery, there are usually four surgeons and couple nurses for tools and general cleaning. One of the two nurses might be Wanglijing or Mayanru. They should at least know something about the case. Another suspect should be Zhangyuping, who was from the same hometown as Jin zhihong.

Key words: Criminals, Innermongolia Medical College, Gaochengyong ( ), Tianxiaochen , Gaoxiuhe , Jinzhihong , Wanglijing , Mayanru , Zhangyuping ( ).
