

Scientific Tracks

Psychological characteristics of an emergency doctor personality

Zakharova Eugeniya Albinovna

Privolzhsky Research Medical University, Russia

The article is devoted to the description and analysis of psychological characteristics of emergency doctors. The scale of personal anxiety by Spielberg-Hanin and Beck, Izard's differential emotions scale and Eysenck Personality

Inventory questionnaires were used on 55 doctors of State Budget Hospital, Dzerzhinsk Emergency Hospital. They demonstrated, increased stress and anxiety level, disharmony and decrease of self-acceptance. The necessity of psychological readiness development during the University study period is underlined in the article.

Biography: Zakharova Eugenia Albinovna, is the tutor of the Department of Foreign Languages of Privolzhsky Research Medical University, and a postgraduate student of the Department of Pedagogical Psychology at the State Pedagogical University named after K.Minin.

jaznn@mail.ru