EDITORIAL NOTE

On behalf of the Board of the Journal of Gerontology & Geriatric Research I am proud to introduce you the fully open access peer-reviewed online journal in the Geriatric field. The journal has entered in open access publishing industry in 2012 and has since then published several high quality papers and reviews. Currently the journal is indexed Google Scholar, Publons, EBSCO A-Z, Open J Gate, Index Copernicus, RefSeek, Genamics JournalSeek, OCLC- WorldCat, SafetyLit, Hamdard University, and Geneva Foundation for Medical Education and Research. Also the journal publishes the articles into PubMed if the research receives funds from a funding institutes or organization which are included in the list of PMC or authors having NIH grant.

The journal accepts all type of articles such as research, review, mini review, brief communication, short communication, case study, case report, commentary, clinical trials, editorial, editorial note, graphical abstract, image article, original article, and video article.

In the year of 2020 the coronavirus disease became pandemic across the world. By considering this the editorial board of JGGR journal coined the special issue entitled "Severity of COVID infection and elder care" in order to focus on more emerging and recent topic in the field gerontology. One can get the detailed information regarding the special on the following link Severity of COVID infection and elder care.

Along with the regular issue articles the journal has also resumed article acceptance for previous special issue topic such as Healthy aging and Elder Care, Drug Discovery, Integrative Medicine, Dementia pathophysiology, Geriatric Pharmacology, and Aging and Immunization. While submission of an article one can submit their research to any of the relevant special issue topic by selecting on "Special Issue Article" from the dropdown list.

The journal appoints the subject experts as a reviewer to review the article. While the editors, associate editors and assistant editors involves in complete processing of an article starting from article submission to final recommendation. For the online submission and for further tracking of article status the JGGR journal uses online editorial tracking system.

So one can contribute their novel research studies at <https://www.longdom.org/submissions/gerontology-geriatric-research.html> or can send through mail to editorial office at editor@longdom.org

I am extremely thankful to the JGGR editor Board and our contributors such as authors, reviewers, editors, co-editors and readers for making our journal a great success. The JGGR journal was established with a vision of promoting a research in the field of aging from across the globe.

I would welcome your contributions for our upcoming issue i.e., volume 9 and issue 7 and also I would welcome your suggestions to take our journal to further heights.
