

Award Announcement for Gynecology 2020 Conference!

Ibrahim Mashaal

Allied Academies introduces awards under various categories to encourage the attendees for their excellent contributions towards the scientific community and for the betterment in the field of Gynecology and Obstetrics, through the Gynecology 2020 Conference. The awards will be decided after careful evaluation and paper reading, and the best of the flock will be chosen meticulously. The Awarding will be taking place in the “5th International Conference on Obstetrics and Gynecology” on April 14, 2020 after all the sessions are completed, in Dubai, UAE and announced on the conference website.

Best Keynote Speaker Award

The Best Keynote Speaker Award of 5th International Conference on Obstetrics and Gynecology will be given to that speaker, who outstretches beyond expectation, both through their research work and their key message, through their potential talk at the Conference. The Keynote speaker is expected to engage the audience, with their style, humour and above all a splendid content. Such a speaker, who can charm the audience and captivate them all through his talk will be awarded the Best Keynote Speaker award.

Session`s Best Presentation Award

The series will include many sessions under the different highlights/tracks of the conference including a vast array of topics. The criteria include quality of research, research methodologies, clarity, results, proofs, and presentation skills which would include the effective presentation, professional and impactful message delivery and engaging and answering skills of the speaker. The Chairs of sessions decide which presentation will receive the Best Presentation Award.

Best Presentation Award

The Organizing committee members of Obstetrics and Gynecology Conference shall choose one presentation as the best of all the presentations, from all the sessions with suggestion from the chair and co-chairs of the sessions and the attendees, which will be awarded with an Best Presentation Award.

Best Student Presentation Award

The Student Category includes undergraduates, postgraduates and PhD students who present their research work. Allied Academies believe it's these small encouragements that would nourish the young research community to reach greater heights. The Gynecology 2020 Best Student Award holder should be a student pursuing any of the above-mentioned degree and ought to have registered as a student to be eligible for the award. Based on the evaluation of the presentation and reading of papers, the conference chair decides the presentation which will be awarded with the Gynecology 2020 Conference's Best Student Award.

Best Poster Presentation Award

Allied Academies organizes student poster competition through Gynecology 2020 Conference to encourage students and recent graduates to present their original research work. The presented research paper can be later published in conference supporting journals. Allied Academies hope to provide an opportunity for young researchers, and researchers at their early stages of work, to present their real time work through poster presentations. Best Poster Presentation Award shall be evaluated by a poster judge, based on the quality of poster, self-explanatory stature, quality of research work and other such criteria.
